oxford studies in early modern philosophy is an annual series presenting a selection of the best current work in the history of early modern philosophy it focuses on the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the extraordinary period of intellectual flourishing that begins very roughly with descartes and his contemporaries and ends with kant it also publishes papers on thinkers or movements outside of that framework provided they are important in illuminating early modern thought the articles in osempp will be of importance to specialists within the discipline but the editors also intend that they should appeal to a larger audience of philosophers intellectual historians and others who are interested in the development of modern thought all volumes of professor guthrie's great history of greek philosophy have won their due acclaim the most striking merits of guthrie's work are his mastery of a tremendous range of ancient literature and modern scholarship his fairness and balance of judgement and the lucidity and precision of his english prose he has achieved clarity and comprehensiveness this book completes a landmark six volume translation of the major writings of wilhelm dilthey 1833 1911 a philosopher and historian of culture who continues to have a significant influence on philosophy hermeneutics and the theory of the human sciences these volumes make available to english readers texts that represent the full range of dilthey's work the works in this volume present dilthey's most deeply held views about philosophy and how it can guide human practices system of ethics 1890 argues that humane sympathy motivates us only externally and must be replaced with the internally motivated fellow feeling of solidarity that respects others as ends in themselves the essence of philosophy 1907 demonstrates how philosophy has developed from its traditional metaphysical role to the epistemological and encyclopedic functions that ground and order the natural and human sciences the work also discloses an orientational function of philosophy that is explored further in the types of world view and their development 1911 philosophical world views are important in that they address the existential needs and riddles that grow out of life experience and are not solved by any of the sciences in addition the book features three other significant essays present day culture and philosophy 1898 concerns the challenges to philosophy posed by contemporary culture dream 1903 is about the thinkers portrayed in raphael's school of athens and dilthey's worries about them breaking up into three divergent groups finally the problem of religion 1911 considers how religiosity can still inform lived experience in secular times the turn of the nineteenth century marked a rich and exciting explosion of philosophical energy and talent the enormity of the revolution set off in philosophy by immanuel kant was comparable by kant's own estimation with the copernican revolution that ended the middle ages the movement he set in motion the fast moving and often cantankerous dialectic of german idealism inspired some of the most creative philosophers in modern times including g w f hegel and arthur schopenhauer as well as those who reacted against kant marx and kierkegaard for example this volume traces the emergence of german idealism from kant and his predecessors through the first half of the nineteenth century ending with the irrationalism of kierkegaard it provides a broad scholarly introduction to this period for students of philosophy and related disciplines as well as some original interpretations of these authors each chapter is written by a distinguished scholar in the field a glossary of technical terms together with a chronological table of philosophical scientific and other important cultural events are provided
